

Fish Faces

Wu, Norbert

One fish, two, fish, three fish, more fish that dart and dip and slide. Fish that glide on fins like wings. Flat fish, round fish, a very long and thin fish, spotted fish, dotted fish; fish with lines and stripes and waves; fish with spikes and spines and braches. Fish with mouths that open wide; mouth like a tube, mouth like a beak, mouth that belongs to a monster of the deep. A long nose, a flat nose, a hard-to-ignore nose; a nose that looks like it could cut wood; a nose that shines in the dark!

Red eyes, green eyes; great big pretend eyes, eyes that are hooded, eyes that shine, eyes that stick up like periscopes. Faces that are friendly, faces that are fierce, faces that could be sad or mad. One fish, two fish, three fish, four; deep in the ocean, there are thousands more!
