

Pete and Eve

Pete and Eve had to write for school. Miss Mede said, “Write about a place that is far away. I need these papers in three days.”

“Eve, what will you write for your paper?” asked Pete.

“I do not know,” said Eve. “Maybe we can ask Dad.”

“Yes,” said Pete. “Dad is from Crete. Crete is far away.”

“Where is Crete?” Pete and Eve asked Dad.

Dad pointed at a map. “Here is Crete. It is part of Greece. Crete and Greece are far away from where we live.”

Dad talked about Crete and Greece. Then Eve wrote her paper about Greece. Pete wrote his paper about Crete.

They showed their papers to Dad. “These are very good papers!” said Dad.
