

A Space Station

These people are from three nations. They will fly in a spaceship up to a space station. The space station will be their home while they are up in space.

One man said, “This is the space station. It always stays in motion. The space station moves around the globe. One trip around our globe is called an orbit. The space station makes 16 orbits around the globe every day.”

The next person said, “The spaceship needs to make a connection with the space station. After the connection is made, the people can get onto the space station. We will bring food and other things we need to live on the space station.”

A man held up a space outfit. He said, “Sometimes we need to fix the outside of the space station. When we go outside of this space station, we must wear this space outfit for protection. Who wants to try on the space helmet?”