

Chores Before the Seashore

Flor was bored. She wanted to go to the seashore.

Flor's mom said, "Flor, you forgot about your chores. You must get more corn before we can go to the seashore. Go to the store next door."

Flor went to the store next door and got more corn. On the way back from the store, Flor tore her shorts on a thorn. "Now I need to fix my shorts," said Flor. "That's one more chore to do before I can go to the seashore!"

At home Flor did all her chores. Flor said, "I got more corn. I fixed my shorts. Now it's time to go to the seashore!"

"Wait!" said Flor's mom. "You have just one more chore."

At last, Flor was all done with her chores! Flor and her mom went to the seashore. They walked by the shoreline. They saw shore birds. They saw bugs buzz by the shore. They saw crabs crawl by the shore. Flor was not bored anymore!